

Evendons Office Bulletin 16th June 2023

Dear Parents,

Our reception classes have had a successful week this week. They impressed everyone with amazing performances in their first music assemblies: playing the drums, singing and dancing. They also experienced the joy of watching five ducklings hatching from their eggs. They all voted for their favourite names and came up with: Banana, Fluffy, Rosie, Sunset and Buttons.

The rest of the school have been enjoying the sunny weather and have been practicing for upcoming music performances as well as getting ready for sports day and the STEM Fair.

The new extension building work is going well with the second floor now appearing, the new rooms look huge and we're excited about moving into them next academic year.

Year 1 have their sleepover at school tonight and are looking forward to the campfire, team games and stories with friends.

We have a workparty on Saturday morning 9am to 11am, preparing the grounds for the STEM fair next week, please do come along with brooms and strimmers to help get the grounds tidy. We would also appreciate any extra helpers after school on Wednesday to help set up tables and gazebos for the STEM fair.

Have a lovely weekend,

Stacey Read
